

PUTS FINAL TOUCHES ON LATEST NOTE

TO BE SENT TONIGHT

Message Will Be Dispatched to Ambassador Gerard for Delivery to Berlin Foreign Office.

Washington, June 5.—President Wilson was today putting the finishing touches on his latest note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. It already had been approved in principle by the cabinet. All that was pending today to start the communication on its way to Berlin was the making of minor changes in its phraseology.

No Significance in Warning. Ambassador Gerard at Berlin called the state department today that reports of Americans in Germany having been warned to be prepared to leave there is attributable to the embassy's standing advice that the war zone in Europe is not a desirable place for Americans.

"The warning that the stories have reference to," said Secretary Bryan, "is what has been said all the time since the war began. It has been said in other places, that is, during the war, Europe is not a good place for Americans to be in."

Americans in London Warned. London, June 5.—Several American residents of London today informed Robert P. Skinner, American consul general here, that last night they received anonymous telephone calls warning them to get out of London with their families at once.

Among those thus notified, was M. K. Shaler, member of the American Belgian relief commission, who was told by an unknown voice over the telephone not to stir from his home during the night, and furthermore, to fill the bath tubs in his house full of water.

For several days reports have been in circulation in London that American women had been warned to leave England by June 8. According to this report, the American embassy had been instructed by Berlin to issue a warning of this nature. Investigation tonight of the information that the ambassador had received no such request.

ANTI-CABINET PARTY ATTACKS MINISTER

Resolution Expressing Lack of Confidence in Viscount Oura Introduced in Japanese Diet.

Tokyo, June 5.—The opposition pushing its anti-cabinet campaign today introduced in the house of representatives, a resolution expressing lack of confidence in Viscount Kaneko, Oura, minister of the interior. The charges were made that although Viscount Oura was charged with the duty of seeing that elections were conducted in an honest and impartial manner, he himself received a present of 1,000 (800) at the March election, from the candidates for membership in the house. The basis of this accusation is found in a political suit brought against Viscount Oura by the manager of a conservative party. The matter is to be discussed Monday.

STEAMER FITTED TO CARRY A SUBMARINE

French Vessel Built With Open Bows to Take on Submarine, in New York Harbor.

New York, June 5.—The Kangaroo, a French tank steamer, designed to carry a submarine, reached this port today from Bordeaux. The vessel is fitted with open bows through which a submarine may enter. When the submarine is in position in the ship's bow, the bows are closed and the steamer is then ready to sail and to discharge the submarine at any distant point or wherever desired.

SAVED OFFICER FROM DEATH BY HOLDING MAIN ARTERY TOGETHER

London, June 5.—Lieutenant Heller of the 4th East York territorial, who is now in a hospital at Boulogne, owes his life to the devotion of his men in the ranks, who kept him from bleeding to death by taking turns in holding an artery. The officer's left arm was blown off by a shell and his right arm badly injured. The main artery of the severed arm was exposed. But one of his men pinched it with his fingers. When the man's hand tired, another took his place in holding the artery. No surgical aid was available, and for three days Lieutenant Heller lay in the bottom of the trench, with only this primitive aid from his soldiers between him and death.

LUTHER BURBANK DAY AT FRISCO EXPOSITION

San Francisco, June 5.—"Luther Burbank Day" attracted thousands to the Panama Pacific Exposition today. The visitor was given, as a souvenir, a seed guaranteed to produce several varieties of Burbank's famous freak plants. Giant cherries, plums and thornless berries are among the marvels Burbank's seeds are expected to sprout.

WITNESSES FEAR HARM FROM POLICE IN CHICAGO TRIAL

Crooke Testifying in Graft Trial Say Lives Have Been Threatened by Friends of Prisoners.

Chicago, June 5.—Extra bailiffs were on guard in the so-called police graft case today, because of the expressed belief of the state witnesses that their lives were threatened. The trial was halted for a few minutes yesterday when Isadore Wexler, one of a number of burglars testifying for the prosecution, suddenly turned pale and turned to Judge Dever, saying that his life had been threatened. him by a mere movement of the lips. The warning, he said, was given such as convicts learn in prison. Counsel for the defendants, James O'Day Stoen, Frederick Koch, and Michael Weisbaum, said that Wexler's action was a "frame up" designed to affect the jury. It is said, however, that prospective witnesses have secretly informed the state's attorney that they feared that the police would "get" them. The bailiffs today scrutinized everyone who entered the courtroom. Wexler continued his testimony. He told of his own arrest and that of the other members of the ring of burglars. "Did you have a conversation at that time, with detective Michael Weisbaum," asked Attorney Malato. "Yes," replied Wexler. "It was in Bennet's saloon. Mason Steinberg, head of our gang, was with me. I asked Weisbaum if he couldn't fix things up. He said he would see Captain Stoen about it. He went away, but soon came back and said Stoen demanded $300 to fix up the case." The judge discharged him. Wexler said he fixed his own case with Weisbaum for $300 and that the detective stood by him in court. On cross examination it developed that Wexler, like Steinberg, leader of the gang, prays regularly. He was born in Roumania and came to this country seventeen years ago. He frankly admitted having committed many burglaries in Detroit, before he came to Chicago.

KANSAS CITY POLICE NIP SWINDLING GAME

Through Arrest of Con Men Officers Believe List of Country-Wide Frauds Will Be Revealed.

Kansas City, June 5.—Through the arrest of several persons in various parts of the country, the police of this city today announced they believed they had discovered the leaders of a syndicate which has been swindling hundreds of persons in large cities throughout the country by means of a fraudulent racing and wire tapping scheme. Three men arrested gave the names of Walter Harrison, Omaha, Neb.; Harry Stanhope, Philadelphia, Pa.; and V. O'Brien, Meriden, Miss. The local police assert that two men and women are being held in Denver in connection with the case and one man in Philadelphia. In the pockets of one of the men here, the police say they found racing forms and tickets, loads of imitation money and newspaper clippings, telling of numerous winnings on race tracks. It is asserted that the band maintained headquarters in Excelsior Springs, Mo., with connections in the larger cities. The arrests were made on complaint of J. W. Klinkerman of Los Angeles, Colorado, who asserted he lost $3,000.

SHE LOST FORTUNE BY DIVORCING MAN

And Has Fruitless Annulment Proceedings After Discovering Man Was Enormously Wealthy.

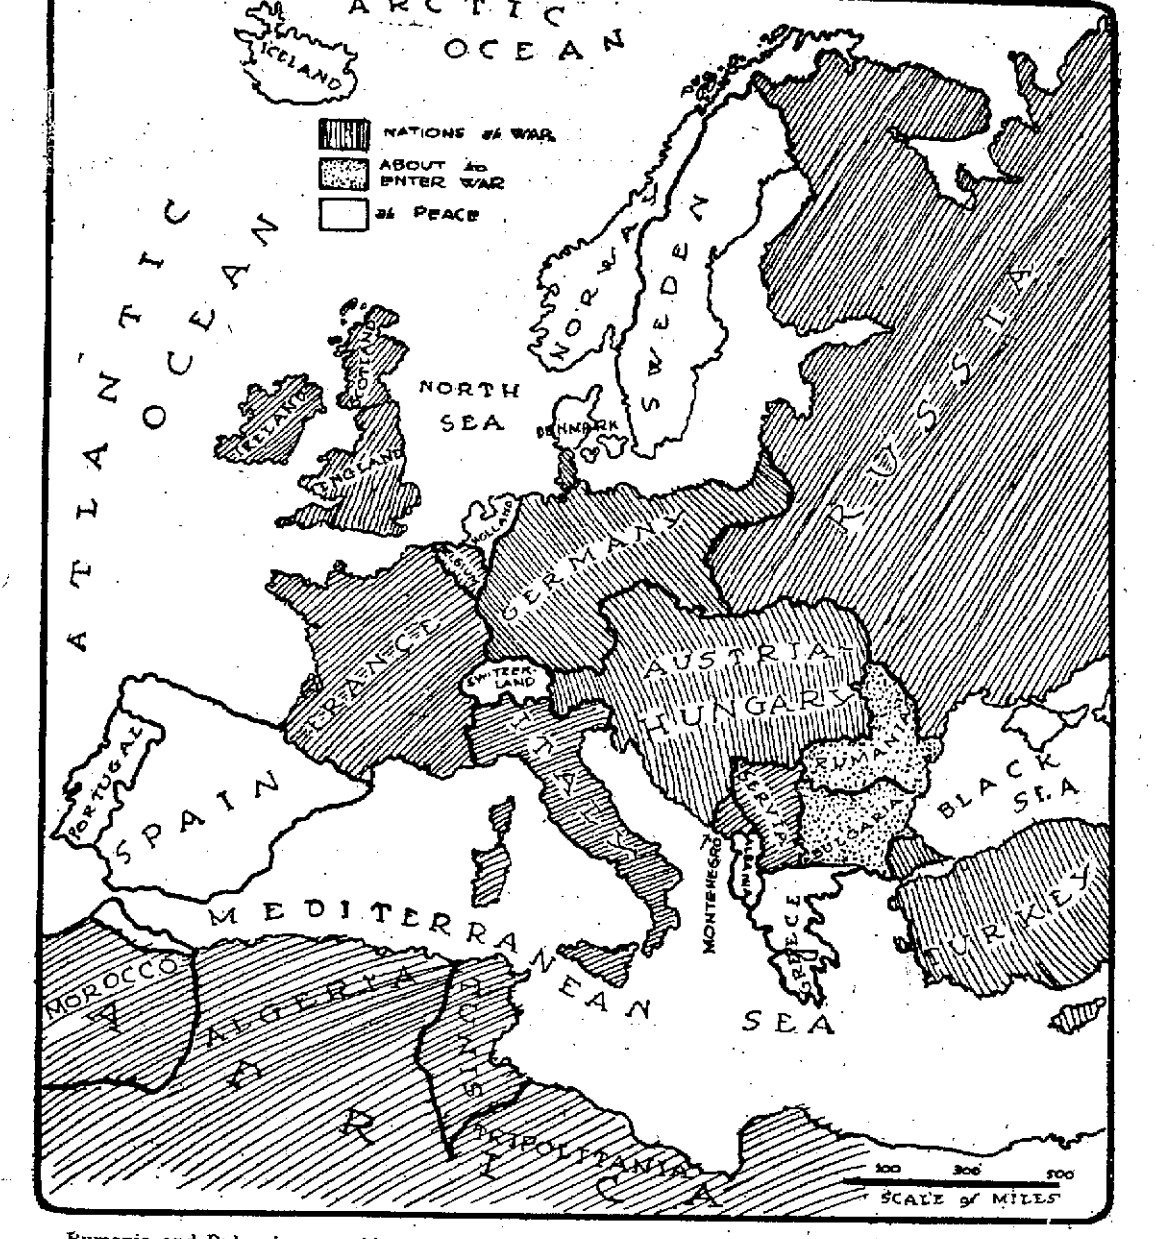

Houghton, Mich., June 5.—Annulment of divorce brought thirty years ago after the divorce was granted was denied today to Mrs. Louise Dober, former wife of the late silver millionaire by Circuit Judge O'Brien. Counsel for Dober contended Mrs. Dober attempted a reconciliation only after she learned her former husband was wealthy.

TELLS HOW WORLD WAR HAS CRIPPLED ALL LATIN AMERICA

Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the U. S. department of commerce, has made a study of trade conditions in Latin America as affected by the war. "The commerce of Latin America was cut in half, immigration ceased, industry was temporarily paralyzed, and all public improvements except the absolutely indispensable were completely suspended by the war," he says.

MORE NATIONS READY TO HELP FORGE IRON RING ABOUT TEUTONS

Rumania and Bulgaria are said to be in readiness to enter the war and thus further strengthen the "iron ring" about the Teutonic nations. Their entrance into the war would make it ten countries against three. This includes Japan, which is not now taking an active part in the struggle.

CLAIM VILLA ASK TERMS OF CARRANZA

Reported That Villa Officials Near Border Have Requested Carranza Representatives to Outline Basis.

El Paso, June 5.—The probability that President Wilson's recent note to Mexican leaders might result in rapprochement between Carranza and Villa is being discussed in Mexican circles here today. It was stated authoritatively that at the suggestion of high Villa officials on the border, a request has gone to Elisea Arredondo, the Carranza representative at Washington, to outline some basis for an understanding. Feed 20,000 Mexicans. Washington, June 5.—More than 20,000 hungry Mexicans already have been fed at Monterey from supplies arriving from the United States. More than 7,000 starving people were supplied with corn yesterday at the American hospital. Generals Davila, Zertuche and Santos have expressed to Consul General Hanna thanks to President Wilson, the American Red Cross and the American people for the assistance given.

Automobile Concern Incorporated at $2,000,000. Now Reaches Enormous Mark. Detroit, June 5.—The Ford Motor company announced it has increased its authorized capital stock from two million to one hundred million, and declared a stock dividend of $48,000,000, payable July 1. A cash dividend was declared on the original authorized stock of $2,000,000, but the amount was not made public. The stock dividend increases the holding of Henry Ford, president of the company, by $27,000,000, and James Couzens, vice president, receives $5,000,000.

The June Bride

June's wedding bells bring hurries and worries to the bride's friends. A suitable gift must be chosen, matters of apparel must be looked to. And everything must be just right—a wedding is a real event. At such a season the suggestions held out in the advertising columns of a live newspaper like The Gazette are invaluable. Frequently the advertising you give direct answer to your problems but in any event it will guide you to the right store. Every day the service qualities of newspaper advertising become more and more apparent.

ANOTHER OPERATION IS ONLY HOPE FOR KING CONSTANTINE

Announcement Made Today That the Grecian King Has Suffered Change for the Worse.

Athens, via London, June 5.—Announcement was made today that King Constantine had a change for the worse and another operation will have to be performed. The operation will necessitate the removal of one more of the king's ribs. The temperature of the patient was 99.6, pulse 102 and respiration 20 last night. The king of Greece has been suffering from pleurisy for several weeks. He underwent an operation the latter part of May, after which he suffered a relapse. Reports concerning him have been more or less contradictory, but recently his condition is said to have been critical. King Constantine's wife is a sister of Emperor William of Germany.

PANAMA CANAL PROFITS TO PAY RUNNING EXPENSES

Panama, June 5.—The Panama Canal will have earned in the first year of its operation sufficient to pay all its running expenses and probably leave a small surplus, according to the figures now being compiled in the office of the canal auditor. The loss now is about 5 per cent, as against 20 per cent at the end of February. The deficit of about 20 per cent incurred during the first eight months of the waterway's operation has been nearly eliminated and will be completely by June 30, when the first year of operation will end. Nearly every month of the last nine have shown an increase in the toll earnings. Tolls for April, however, were slightly lower than those for March, which were a record. It is declared the tolls for May will equal if not exceed those for March.

CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT SHOWS BIG RESERVE FUND OVER THAT OF LAST WEEK

New York, June 5.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week, show that they hold $186,289,250 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $2,936,810 over last week.

ROCK COUNTY FREED FROM HOOF DISEASE

Washington, June 5.—Additional territory freed today by the department of agriculture from the foot and mouth quarantine includes Racine and Rock counties in Wisconsin. LONDON PRESS ATTACK INTERNATIONALIZED SUBJECTS. London, June 5.—"It would be politically wrong, as well as morally unjust," to internationalize British subjects or in any way to discriminate between them and native citizens," declares the London Law Journal in a forcible article of the Treatment of Aliens. "No support can be given," declares this journal, "to any of the threatened steps against those who have been naturalized and have become British subjects. Discrimination between citizens is like an evil growth in the body politic, and the damage is vital, because the disease grows by what it feeds on."

SHIP LOSSES OF BRITAIN ARE GROWING

Trawlers and Steamers Are Sunk by Submarines in a New Epidemic.

Kirkwall, Orkney Island, June 5.—Three more British ships have been sunk by German submarines. The steam fishing vessels, Keithvane of Peterhead and Evening Star and Corbet of Aberdeen, were sent to the bottom yesterday. The crew was landed here today. Sunset Head Torpedoed. Leith, Scotland, June 5.—The steamer, Sunner Head, was torpedoed yesterday. The crew was ordered into the boats and were landed at Bewick. Two Trawlers Sunk. Norwich, England, June 5.—The trawler Little Boy of Lowestoft has arrived at this port with the crews of the trawlers Horace and Economy on board these two ships having been sunk by the Germans. A German submarine stopped the three trawlers in the North Sea Thursday and gave the crews of the Horace and Economy five minutes to board the Little Boy. After the transfer was made the trawlers were sunk by bombs placed on board by the crew of the submarine.

CREWS SAFELY LANDED

Precaution Is Taken To Allow Fishermen and Navigators to Escape With Their Lives.

Secretary Daniels drew a lesson from the European war in pointing out that the graduates in order to attain a high place of honor, must possess in addition to other indispensable, self mastery. "When the war is over," he said, "the man most honored will be the man who captures the citadel of the enemy. When his biography is written, you will find that the naval and military leader who emerges with a story is the man who began his career by capturing and controlling the citadel of his own body and protecting that from the ravages of appetite and passion. The man who takes cities and who wins the battles are the better fitted to do it if they are men who have won the mastery over impulse and appetite."

The bombs were thrown down at a number of different places which have not as yet been enumerated. This information is contained in official statements given out here today.

PREDICTS AIRCRAFT WILL SOON SURPASS DREADED SUBMARINE

Secretary Daniels Tells Annapolis Class That Air Machines Will Be Most Feared of War Engines.

Annapolis, June 5.—Prediction that war aircraft of the near distant future will be as fearful engines of destruction as the dreaded undersea craft, was made by Secretary Daniels in an address to the graduating class of the naval academy. "In the European war," he said, "there have been no surprises, no startling victory, no crushing defeat, that could be called decisive. Slaughter there has been unprecedented, but the character of battles that stampede an enemy by taking him unawares has passed away. The effectiveness of the sinking movement has been seriously impaired. Why? The sailing scouts carry messages from trench to trench and the sudden alarm that resulted in routing out mighty armies became ancient history when the modern engine and gasoline enabled men to conquer the region of the air. "What we have seen in these swift winged eagles of the army or navy is but the dawn of a coming day when we shall make the heavens carry out warfare as easily as we now make the sea with our dreadnaughts." Secretary Daniels spoke of the marvelous development of submarines and added: "Importance of Submarine. "Almost every day you are startled to read of the torpedoing of a mighty vessel by these small undersea stillness," the secretary told the class. "The submarine's method of destruction, its deadly work and disappear in a moment challenged the world's wonder. It seems only a few days ago that we were wondering if a submarine would become a real part of the fleet. Today many are seriously doubting whether our giant ships will continue to be the backbone of the squadron that constitutes the country's protection." "The last congress expressed its faith in the submarine by voting the money to build twenty-six new submarines, three of them to be sea-going and power never before contemplated. "What of the future of this newest naval arm? He would be a rash man who would prophesy the limit of its possibilities." Secretary Daniels drew a lesson from the European war in pointing out that the graduates in order to attain a high place of honor, must possess in addition to other indispensable, self mastery. "When the war is over," he said, "the man most honored will be the man who captures the citadel of the enemy. RUSSIAN LINES CHECK MOVE ON LEMBERG

Russian Army Remains Intact Despite Complete German Occupation of Przemyśl.

FIGHTING CONTINUES

General Mackensen Pushes Eastward, Meeting With Stubborn Resistance from Retreating Slavs.

London, June 5.—The Austro-German forces have pushed their salient as far as Tulkia, which is some distance northeast of Przemyśl. Notwithstanding the evacuation of this fortress, the Russians have maintained an unbroken fighting front on both sides of the railroad to Lemberg. Thus far the Austrians and Germans apparently have made little progress since taking Przemyśl, although an Austrian official report states the Russians have been driven east to the vicinity of Medyka. In Galicia heavy fighting continues all along the front. From the Vienna reports, it would appear the Austro-German armies are still sweeping back westward. The Petrograd war office, however, advances claims of success in several engagements and apparently the Russians have been able to maintain their front to the east.

Hard Fighting in West. British and French reports indicate hard fighting on the western front, without much progress for either side. The Belgian frontier has again been closed to traffic. This tends to confirm reports that the Germans are moving heavy reinforcements to their positions along the Yser canal.

Przemyśl Completely Invested. Berlin, June 5.—Reports from the Austro-German troops are now in complete possession of the town of Przemyśl. The Russians contested stubbornly each advance, but at length were driven from the eastern and southern forts which were the last to fall.

It is generally admitted that the larger part of the Russian forces in Przemyśl were able to effect a retreat eastward by descending the positions to the south. Thus they checked the attacking army of General Boehm-Ermolli and temporarily prevented the complete encircling of the city. Although the retreat line along which the retreat occurred was under fire of the field guns, they were too far away to be effective. Apparently the city suffered little during the Russian occupation.

Provisions Recovered. Huge stores of provisions were recovered and a considerable amount of war material was captured. Immediately after the evacuation of Przemyśl, General Von Mackensen's army pressed eastward. It encountered the Russian rear guard on the heights near Medyka, where fighting is still in progress. The teutonic allies have succeeded, however, in joining their forces along a continuous front moving eastward. This has relieved the difficult position of the north wing. The only serious opposition which is expected, will be probable near the Crook lake south of Lemberg. Here the Russians may be able to throw in reserves. It is expected that the army of General Linsingen, moving northward from Stry, will be able to threaten the Russians from the rear if they offer such resistance.

Kaiser Visits Archduke. Emperor William arrived at the headquarters of Field Marshal Archduke Frederick, Austrian commander-in-chief yesterday, to take part in the celebration of the archduke's birthday. The visit was made the occasion of rejoicing at the fall of Przemyśl. Emperor William was greeted everywhere by wild yells and cheering.

Eye Witness Reports. Paris, June 5.—The capture by the French of the sugar refinery near Souvigny is described in a report given out today by the official "Eye Witness" at the front: "Violent attacks on the part of the French from both west and south were met by the fire of the German batteries and machine guns, located on the north side of the refinery," says the Eye Witness. "Germans resisted for some time, but finally were demoralized by the artillery fire of the French and withdrew."

The basement of the factory was found to be filled with German dead, while the French losses were slight. "Lurid at having lost a position which would serve as a base for a counter attack at Albain, virtually all of which is in possession of the French, the Germans made a desperate effort to regain it. Amid destroyed and great holes in the ground made by the shells, the Germans began their attack at midnight. In this rapid and confused engagement, the French were obliged to withdraw, but a watchful French major prepared rapidly for a counter attack. The French company which had momentarily yielded, later pushed forward, aided by reinforcements and an intense artillery fire, under which the Germans feared their retreat would be cut off."

"When the French counter attack had attained the refinery itself, it was found that the Germans already had withdrawn and the position was promptly organized by the French. During this work a non-commissioned officer remained for eight hours at his post directing his men, and this in spite of the fact that he had a splinter of a shell in his thigh. "In a period of three weeks nearly 3,000 Germans have been buried and more than 3,000 taken prisoners by the same French regiment."

ENTIRE NATION IS BEHIND PRESIDENT

LOYAL SUPPORT OF UNITED COUNTRY GIVEN WILSON IN PRESENT DIPLOMATIC MOVES.

WAR STRENGTH OF U. S.

Correspondent Calls to Task Those Persons Who Charge That America is Unprepared.

(By Ellis B. Usher.)

Milwaukee, June 5.—Everybody and everything in America has been awaiting, with dignity and serious demeanor, the second note of President Wilson to Germany. There is a very general feeling here, and everywhere, that the American people are behind President Wilson, to a man, and this feeling anticipates the second note with confidence, having had evidence of Mr. Wilson's mastery in his comprehensive and decisive first utterance. Not that some few people do not talk of "peace at any price," but that is not the temper, generally, of those American people. They have no desire for war, but they have much less desire for ignoble peace.

Money Talks in War.

In this connection, it is not untimely to refer to some of the utter nonsense that is talked by those people who should know better, of the impotence of the United States to enter European war to any purpose. The first and weakest, is the argument that the United States, from the very few whose unpatriotic sympathies would make it so. The informed, to the contrary, are informed. To begin with, money fights battles in the hands of the United States has more of it, just now, than any nation on earth. Second, in importance, our navy, according to Admiral Dewey, who has been its head for some time, has no superior, man for man, ship for ship, and gun for gun. And it is third in the European war, it could get into the European war with a bang. There will, as we can now foresee, be no call upon this country for a large army, though we ought to be prepared for one, in the interests of peace. In that connection, the 100,000 of people, even if untainted as a rule, could be put into quite aggressive shape long before we could have any domestic danger from any foreign foe. Just one suggestion: We could train a standing army of a million men, among the negroes of the South, in less time than we could equip them. Few think of the blacks, but they are a fighting force and they make good soldiers, and there are over two millions of them within its range of years from 18 to 45. Some of these facts will furnish any intelligent American with arguments upon which he may, rapidly, enlarge. Do we want to fight. No. But anybody, in this country or abroad, who thinks the President can't depend upon his people to back him, is not reckoning with either knowledge or courage. The European war will not be short. It will be absolutely necessary for the American people to understand themselves and their need to the movement of international affairs. A crisis may be very near to them, even now.

The community trust, it has been termed, or put the other way, a trust fund for the benefit of the community, is the latest development of the communal philanthropy and welfare. It has been introduced in Milwaukee, which, the fourth city, I believe, to effect the Milwaukee Foundation, and follows, as do all the others, the line of the Cleveland Foundation, which was designed by a leading financier and lawyer, Judge Goff, of that city. The plan contemplates the collection of money from individual gifts and bequests from private sources into a fund the proceeds of which will be administered by an unpaid board of five citizens. One member will be named by the Judge of the United States District Court, another by the senior County Judge of Probate, a third by the Mayor, and the remaining two by the Wisconsin Trust Company, which has been selected as trustee of the fund. One of these directors will retire each year, unless reappointed. It will be possible for private people to give or leave money to specific objects for administration by the Foundation, with a proviso, if they wish it, that if the specific object ceases to exist, the board may use the money for its discretion. Public works, art, libraries, charities, philanthropies, and all that can be served by a continuing and responsible management. One desirable object that will, it is expected, be attained by this plan, is that people who can and wish to give small sums for public welfare may be certain that their money will be acceptable and be usefully employed. Often such people refrain from gifts or bequests because they think their accomplish anything. They are doubtful of their own ability to select a suitable object. In Cleveland, the Foundation, which has been in existence for two years, already has gifts and endowments aggregating thirty million dollars. It is expected that a plan for practical charity and municipal welfare projects, which will serve a broad and valuable purpose. It may be copied in any smaller city to equally good purpose. The ultimate value to public works of such a large fund will be apparent to any one who grasps its meaning.

Reserve Bank Balance.

In the allusion made above to the financial ability of the United States, I was not merely making an assertion. The new reserve bank contains a cash balance of over $300,000,000 and the banks of New York City, on a week's statement, hold nearly $800,000,000 of cash in their vaults. These are only two of many items of available cash. But when it comes to national wealth, the figures just published by the United States Census Bureau show the estimated value of our national wealth has been in 1912, nearly 133 billions, or the equivalent of almost $2000 per capita, under our population. There is nothing under the sun comparable to this showing.

Interesting War Papers.

The men who can tell a story of personal experience of Civil War days are growing sadly few, even among those who were only lads when the war was closed. In fact, it was half a century ago. In view of this fact, the recent publication by the Military Order of the Royal Legion of the United States, of Vol. IV of their series of "War Papers" is of more than passing interest. It is a bound volume of nearly 500 pages, and the Commandery has selected for the preservation only such papers as relate to the personal experiences of the writers in connection with the days of the Civil War. Among them, for example, is a page of much historical value by Hon. Gerry W. Hazelton, our distinguished octogenarian, telling of his experiences in the conveyance of the remains of Abraham Lincoln. The writers of the volume, Burdick & Allen of this city, have some copies of it to sell, and it is well worth a place in any library, especially in a Wisconsin library. It contains many personal relations of soldiers who were a part of the North's great uprising, the perpetuation of the Union, which, just now, is being read up, and of interest to anyone who would understand the ardor of patriotism that inspired America's citizen soldiers. It may well be borne in mind, too, that the greatest war of modern times, until the present European war, are to-day ready to be defenders of the flag.

Erle's Latest.

It is not I alone who took the "New Erie" from the New York financial columns and gave it an eye-opening progress, in these days of war, roads are not generally doing progressive things, because they can't afford to. But the Erie has acquired a habit of economy and thrift under the present management and will always win, from an individual, a railroad, even under adverse circumstances. There is a late paragraph from the Wall Street Journal, which is a gossip, "Evidence of the increasing financial strength of the Erie Railroad is afforded by the fact that the company is now in a position to purchase steel cars in the commutative service. The equipment is expensive, and until very recently the Erie considered it better to lease, except for the limited trains between New York and Chicago. Freight being the backbone of the company's business, practically all the money that could be expended went to increasing the road's efficiency as a freight carrier. But now that the line has been brought up to standard, the management feels justified in placing the highest type of equipment at the disposal of its commuting passengers."

their series of "War Papers" is of more than passing interest. It is a bound volume of nearly 500 pages, and the Commandery has selected for the preservation only such papers as relate to the personal experiences of the writers in connection with the days of the Civil War. Among them, for example, is a page of much historical value by Hon. Gerry W. Hazelton, our distinguished octogenarian, telling of his experiences in the conveyance of the remains of Abraham Lincoln. The writers of the volume, Burdick & Allen of this city, have some copies of it to sell, and it is well worth a place in any library, especially in a Wisconsin library. It contains many personal relations of soldiers who were a part of the North's great uprising, the perpetuation of the Union, which, just now, is being read up, and of interest to anyone who would understand the ardor of patriotism that inspired America's citizen soldiers. It may well be borne in mind, too, that the greatest war of modern times, until the present European war, are to-day ready to be defenders of the flag.

DE PALMA EXPECTS TO BREAK RECORDS AT CHICAGO DERBY

World's Greatest Speed Pilot Declares He Is Not Satisfied With Record of Nearly Ninety Miles Per Hour.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Ill., June 5.—Chicago became the scene for the demon speed when the great American and European drivers arrived here to prepare for Chicago's first international speedway derby at Des Plaines River and Twelfth street, Saturday, June 13. Nearly one-third of the pilots are at the scene of activity and by the middle of next week the remainder of the greatest field of motorists ever assembled will be circling the newly laid two-mile course.

Constructor Shank, who within five weeks finished the herculean task of building a course which contains 10,000 feet of lumber, removed the last carpenter from the track last Thursday and immediately the first car thundered over the oval in the initial test race to early predictions an amazing speed was shown, but the top marks will not be reached until the elimination trials are held next week.

Alphon DePalma, winner of the last Indianapolis race, and the fastest speed of nearly ninety miles an hour, was among the first visiting pilots to see the course in its entirety. He was astonished at the remarkable performance made by some of the earlier drivers. DePalma was merely a spectator, as his car, which won the Hoosier classic, is not yet in the condition he desires it to be for the 500-mile race and will not be for several days.

The Italian driver was forced to put his Mercedes to the hardest test ever in a machine in any race to create a new world record and he is anxious to prepare it with the same care as was shown prior to the Indiana contest. He says he will not attempt to drive the Hoosier unless he is assured it will stand the test for the race, a victory in the Chicago classic will give him more prestige than any event staged in America.

After giving the cars the "once over" during the trial runs, DePalma expressed an opinion to President Reid of the Speedway Park association. It was as follows:

"The conditions are favorable as those of Memorial day at Indianapolis, and if my car shows it is able to bear up under the test, watch out for an other world's record. They told me the Indianapolis race that they would stand for years. I do not believe it will last for three weeks. I am certain that if conditions are right, and no mishaps befall me I shall be able to go better than ninety miles an hour in this prediction, because the Chicago track is built for the highest speed possible. The turns are exceptionally wide and it will not be necessary to cut down much speed when a driver makes these curves into the straightaways."

The entry list will close next Thursday at which time Director of Contest E. Edwards expects to have between thirty-five and forty cars entered for the contest. Edwards is not particularly anxious to get many more entries in the remaining few days, but will accept any and all Edwards says the already has the best pilots in this country and these will survive the tests.

Although no time limit has been placed on the elimination trials, the speedway officials are sure that the lowest qualifying car will have to do better than eighty-two miles an hour, two more miles an hour than the limit set by the Hoosier authorities. At least eight of the twelve cars will be dropped because the American Automobile association rules prohibit more than twenty-seven cars in the race.

HOLD TRAP TOURNAMENT HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Four Ten-men Teams in Trap Shooting Tournament Here Next Tuesday—Public Invited.

On Tuesday, June 8th, the Janesville Gun club will hold an inter-city tournament at their grounds on North Washington street, having four ten-men teams from the trap clubs of Rockford, Beloit, Capron and this city participating. The local club has made extensive preparations for the league shoot, having purchased a new trap which will be installed on Monday.

With favorable weather high scores are expected as the Janesville club has one of the best grounds in this district for shooting. In the three previous tournaments, the Bower City team made rather a poor showing and expect to land first place in the shoot here as a strong team is being picked. The public is cordially invited to witness the shoot, there being no admission charged, and the club aims to stimulate more interest in trap shooting. The inter-city league was formed last year and under the rules, two "tours" will be held in each city during the present year.

LOCAL BALL CLUBS

MUST PAY WAR TAX

Under Provisions of Federal War Tax Teams Charging Admission Will Have to Pay Ten Dollars.

Under the war revenue act effected last fall, ball clubs in this city who charge admission to games, directly or indirectly, must pay a register tax of ten dollars for the fiscal year. This ruling effects practically every baseball team in the nation and the tax of ten dollars must be paid by July 10th. Ball clubs commencing the season prior to the end of the fiscal year must pay for the time playing and under no conditions will clubs finishing the season be allowed a discount.

Clubs commencing the season in April must pay a tax of $2.42 plus the ten dollars for the new year, making a total of $12.42. Because a club does not belong to an organized league has no effect on the federal law and even amateurs who get together and charge admission for games are not exempt under the law. This would mean that the clubs of the Commercial club and the Cardinals would be among those who will have to pay the "war tax."

PURDUE WALLEOPS CHICAGO IN CONFERENCE BASEBALL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—A rally in the ninth inning gave Purdue a victory over Chicago, 2 to 1, and landed the Boilermakers in sixth place in the National Nine race. Both Loy and Hull pitched good ball. Chicago scored in the second, when Gray was passed and tallied on Desjardien's two-bagger. Purdue filed the bases with none out in the same inning, but Shull was equal to the occasion and did not allow a score. In the fifth Purdue tied the count.

California railbirds are enthusiastic about a young trotter by Baron McKinney out of Helen Simmons, called Spriggin. This gelding was purchased last December in a sale for $700 by George Lowery for V. K. Donnan and, while he previously had worked in 2:10's, he now has a joint claim to the season's track record of 2:03, which was established a few weeks ago by Peter McCormick and later equaled by The Proof. Will DeRyder worked Spriggin a heat in 2:12's, 2:35 and 2:12 the same day.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, June 5.—Up out of the misty muck of oblivion emerges one Jack Coombs, former world's series star and long the mainstay of the Athletics' grunting staff in their palmy days. With Squire Ebbetts' Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers, ably managed by Young Uncle Wilbert Robinson, Coombs is once more battling his way over the rough roads that lead to fame and glory.

Released outright by the Athletics and generally regarded as being one of base ball's "has beens," the "Iron Man" of other days has flashed a brand of twirling in the National league this season that bids fair to put him at or near the top of the circuit's winning hurlers. Robinson has sent him to the mound several times this spring and to date the ex-Athletic has turned in more victories than defeats. His victories have been hard won battles, too, his teammates making but two and three runs behind him.

Coombs' return to the top of the heap is one of the most remarkable ever recorded in the annals of baseball. The big twirler severely wrenched the muscles of his back in a world's series battle while with the Athletics. At that time it was thought he was through for all time as an athlete. But Coombs was determined to stick in the game. He employed specialists to work on him and a harness—something on the order of a steel racket—was rigged for him. Wearing this, he was able to work on the mound, though under great difficulty.

The injury made itself manifest in his work, however. His twirling lost of good games but he couldn't pitch with the effectiveness that had once marked his efforts. Connie Mack was loath to let him go and it was not until last fall, when he "leached house" for fair, did the Athletic manager part with him.

Coombs, then a free agent, went to Manager Robinson, of the Dodgers. To him he made the proposition that if he didn't return to his old form his services were not to cost a cent. Judging by his work so far Coombs is meeting the Dodgers' paymaster regularly.

In talking of his work this year recently Coombs ventured the opinion that his success was due to his cool, level pitching.

"I always saved something back for the pinches, even before I was hurt," he said. "I never believed in working hard over every ball I pitched. When I broke into fast company I resolved to copy the craft twirlers who had been in fast company for years. I believed that the ones who stayed up there year after year were the ones to study."

I picked out Cy Young and Bill Dineen as the best examples. I noticed that they worked in the easiest possible way. They never exerted themselves needlessly. I think got more benefit from watching them work than any other twirlers I saw. I copied their methods and tried to improve upon them—tried to be as effective as possible without wasting much energy."

CHICAGO IS PICKED TO WIN TRACK MEET

Maroons and Badgers Will Have a Royal Battle for First Place in Conference Meet Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Urbana, Ill., June 5.—Five hundred athletes representing the cream of western and middle western colleges, crowded Urbana today for the fifteenth annual conference track and field meet. All that was needed to make the meet a fair and successful one for the competition never looked to be stronger in almost every event. Each team was accompanied by its followers and the attendance was certain to be large.

The usual "pre-gun dope" pointed to a battle royal between the University of Chicago and Wisconsin—bitter rivals in every line of sporting endeavor. Illinois whose supporters have come to look on championships as theirs by some divine right, did not loom up so strong as her ancient enemies. The old stars that have brought the banner to the Orange and Blue so many years were gone. But she still presented a formidable array of talent and one that compels accounting to.

The Badger aggregation while not possessing any individual stars excepting of course, the giant Arlie Mucks, has proved itself in dual meets to be a steady point-winning team, rather than a flashy one. Coach Jones has developed a consistent bunch of athletes that are certain to win points.

Practically the same can be said of Chicago's entries. There, too, with but few exceptions, is found the steadiness that wins points rather than the flash of the real battle of the field points. A close survey of the field points of the Western association, Northwestern, Purdue, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Missouri, Notre Dame, Ames or Ohio State coming in as dark horses. Indiana is not conceded much of a chance.

Read the want ads, carefully. The bargain you are looking for may be there.

MORRIS MILLER

"In my mind there are really two parts to a ball game," says Herzog. "There is the first half, and the second half, and they must be played differently. Play for all the runs you can get in the first five innings. A manager does not know how many runs he will need nor how his pitching will hold up. The chance-taking, therefore, and all the run-producing efforts of a club should be exerted in the first five innings. If the game is close and pitching is of very good order, it is best to play for that one run and use every scientific means of getting it. One run very often is a big thing near the end of a game and not so much value is placed on it at the start."

What happened to the New York Giants? That's the question puzzling the baseball experts. On July 1 last season, the Giants, with three pennant years back of them, were above .600, still playing the best ball in the National league. And then suddenly, without any warning, the collapse arrived. From July to October the Giants tumbled along below a .450 clip. McGraw lined up some new men to offset this for 1915, and at the start of the season the Gotham club has been utterly unable to win half its games.

The St. Louis Cardinals are looking ahead for a shortstop, the job that never has been filled since Arnold Hauser got religion so strong that he had to be sent to a sanitarium. The Cardinals have purchased Dick Hornsby, who is now with the Denison team of the Western association, and Scout Eddie Herr is in California, presciently to make a dicker for Les Terry, who shortstops for the Los Angeles team. Hornsby is to report some time in mid-season. This is his second year out, and he is only nineteen years of age. He has a brother, a baseball pitcher, Pep Hornsby of the Shreveport, Texas, league team.

"It's easy enough to be pleasant When a man has all he requires; If his health is all right His heart will be light While he's riding on Diamond Tires."

—Mr. Squeegee

A man is a good deal like a tire. His greatness depends on the crowd he is in. The really great man—the leader—literally has to meet all comers in the contest for public approval. Any tire is the best tire in a crowd of inferiors. But nowadays a tire has to be extraordinary if it is to make and hold a record for superior service and mileage economy.

It is the extraordinary quality of Diamond Tires that has given them their deserved pre-eminence. Send for our book of letters from dealers who sold Diamond Tires in 1914. It tells how more than 99 out of every 100 of the more than half a million Diamond Tires sold last year gave maximum service at minimum mileage cost. It is yours for the asking.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day
The words unkind would trouble my mind
That I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Not given you needless pain.
But we vex our own with look and tone
We might never take back again.
For though in the quiet evening
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it will might be that never for me
The pain that the heart would cease!
How many come forth in the morning
Who never go home at night.
And hearts have been broken for harsh words spoken
That sorrow can ne'er set right.
We have careful thought for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometime guest,
But oft for our own the bitter tone,
Though we love and want the best.
Ah, with the curve of impatient
lip, brow with the shade of scorn,
'Twere cruel fate were the night too late
To undo the work of morn.
—Margaret E. Sangster.

It is an old saying that "familiarity breeds contempt," and older still is the statement that "a man is not what he is, but because both happen to be true it does not make them right.
The lottery of life finds its climax in the home, and while many of these sacred precincts represent the paradise which God intended them to represent, others are so disappointing that the tired wife and mother often sigh with weariness and says: "If I had only known."
Love, which unites men and women in the holy bonds of wedlock, is a plant of slow growth, and the test of time is necessary to develop it. The infatuation which prompts the contract and seals the vows, is usually the merest sentiment, which time so often dispels in the grueling light of experience, that the home becomes a throb.

The June bride often wakes up in November to find the matrimonial sky as sombre as the sky overhead, and as the months and years speed by, there is no rift in the clouds, and she settles down to make the best of disappointment, or seeks relief in the courts.
The thing which she mistook for love has proved a snare and delusion. She expected much, and receives so little, that it is difficult for her to understand. It is possible that she is in a measure responsible for her conditions, for while it always takes two to make a quarrel, it also takes two to make a happy home, and the give and take principle enters so largely into it, that both must share and share alike.
John is the same John who swung over the garden gate when he courted her in the moonlight, and Mary is the same Mary who wooed him with winsome ways and friendly encouragement. Neither have changed, but close association has revealed traits of character which only the home life can reveal.

Someone said, a time ago, that you never know a man until you have him for a business partner, and the statement is absolutely true. The friend whose friendship you may have enjoyed for years, the man in whom you had the utmost confidence, may prove to be your worst enemy when tied up with a business contract.
If this happens in the business world, which is destined of sentiment, it is not difficult to imagine what may happen in domestic life, which is founded on sentiment. What the business world lacks, however, in the way of sentiment, is more than made good in a code of honor, and a sense of justice often keeps men together, after all other ties are severed.

There are some homes which are held together by the same ironclad code, but it takes a brave heart to endure the constant strain, where mutual love has failed to develop. Where the sacrifice is all on one side of the house there is little chance for happiness.
Has it ever occurred to you why the love of the mother for a child is so much stronger and more enduring than the love of the child for the mother? She toils for it through the years of helplessness, apologizes for her boy during the years of carelessness, and in later life often suffers, without complaint, through his neglect.
The reason why is because her love was born in pain and sacrifice, and never a day passes from the cradle until she reposes in her last long sleep, that the spirit of sacrifice fails to influence her. The baby boy of long ago, is still her boy, however much of a rascal he may be.

While it is possible for the heart of a wife to unfold and take in her husband with the same unselfish love, it is only possible under right conditions. The love of a child and its mother is not mutual love. The boy may call her "the old woman," may be ashamed of her in public, may drain her of the last penny of her meager allowance, and still retain her love.

Not so the husband, who came into her life in the guise of a lover. It is up to him to make good, and when he fails to do this, however quietly she may suffer and endure, the heart is filled with bitterness and the home becomes a purgatory.

The man who goes home with an empty pay envelope, on Saturday night, and a breath which tells the story of how the money was squandered, has no claim on the little woman who is waiting for him, and whom he promised to support and protect. And the man who leaves his home in the morning with a frown, is asking more than he has a right to expect, if he hopes to be greeted with a smile.

The old command, "The twain shall be one flesh," has lost significance, in these days of rush and ambition to keep pace with the procession and the women of the land share in the responsibility.

The home, in too many cases, has become a convenience, and club life has made inroads which have marred, and sometimes destroyed the beauty of the old-fashioned home.

Love is a tender plant. It likes to look across the table, three times a day and gather inspiration from the eyes and smile which were so bewitching, back in the days of courtship.

People often grow apart through neglect, when a little care and thoughtfulness would center affection and create the paradise which every home was intended to be. The first home made mistakes, but its occupants seemed to be happy even when turned out to shift for themselves.

If you have ever visited a cemetery where you are familiar with the lives of the occupants, you may have been impressed with the thought that many of the inscriptions on the marble slabs are travesties which provoke a smile.

"Here lies the body of Jane, my beloved wife. May she rest in peace." Poor Jane! You need to know her, and you say: "Yes! May she rest in peace, for it is the first chance she ever had for peaceful rest." If the epitaph had been truthful it would have said: "Jane died prematurely of neglect, and the old skinflint who was responsible, is still at large."

On another slab you notice a tribute to John, the simple quotation: "To die is gain." And then you think of the hen-pecked life that he led, and conclude that he certainly lost nothing, when he departed. There is a good deal of genteel lying in the sacred city of the dead.

The time to show love and respect to our friends is while they are with us, and the flowers and tributes belong in the home, where hearts may be made glad, and families' voices respond in loving acknowledgment.

Every home should be a happy home and it may be if the spirit of sacrifice prevails. The trouble with the most of us is that we like to have our own way regardless of consequences, and the result is war, and war in the home is ruinous to peace and happiness.

The sentiment of this little poem, from an exchange, could be well adopted by many husbands:

Amid the cares of married life,
In spite of toil and business strife,
If you value your sweet wife,
Tell her so!

In former days you praised her style,
And spent much care to win her smile;
'Tis just as well now worth your while—
Tell her so!

There was a time when it was bliss
To get the favor of one kiss;
A dozen now won't come amiss—
Tell her so!

Never let her heart grow cold—
Richer beauties will unfold;
She is worth her weight in gold!
Tell her so!

GINGLES GINGLES

THE PRESENT.
(By Lorin H. Gingles.)
Since yesterday's has been and tomorrow's are not here, it's up to us to live the now and fill it full of cheer.
How many people waste their lives who live in constant dread, of what the morrow will bring forth. They fret and lose their heads. Their clairvoyant hope is pink. Their gleamings on the blink. Their thoughts if classified would make the mental missing link. There was a time when we were right and not so long ago. When we enjoyed the present; past and future had no show. We lived the sermon on the mount. Took heed but for today, but somewhere, somehow, we branched off and lost our blooming way and now we're always out of sorts and always in a mix. Our wisdom is but foolishness and how our conscience pricks. We should reverse and beat it back to where we left the track and hike the straight and narrow now stopping to look back. At first the journey may seem hard with old Nick on the job and every impulse urging us to jangle with the mob, but we must fight if we would win and it is worth our while to change the old life for the new and for the frown a smile.

Someone said, a time ago, that you never know a man until you have him for a business partner, and the statement is absolutely true. The friend whose friendship you may have enjoyed for years, the man in whom you had the utmost confidence, may prove to be your worst enemy when tied up with a business contract.
If this happens in the business world, which is destined of sentiment, it is not difficult to imagine what may happen in domestic life, which is founded on sentiment. Talk about cold weather, a carpenter not long ago dropped his hammer while shingling the roof of a building and not wishing to descend the ladder to get it he took a pall containing water that he had on the building and poured it over the roof. Owing to the frigidity of the atmosphere the water froze as soon as it commenced to drop from the eaves and formed a solid column of ice from the edge of the roof to the ground, the lower end coming in contact with the steel hammer; then by merely detaching the upper end of the icicle from the eaves he was able to lift it and the hammer to the roof with the perfect ease.—A. The ever favorite dramatic star, Clara Kimball Young, will be presented at the Apollo on Tuesday in "Hearts in Exile" from the novel by John Oxe-ham.

Mrs. Young portrays the role of Hope Ivanova, the daughter of a Russian patriot, who died while saving a term of imprisonment for promulgating doctrines of humanity and political freedom, has devoted her life to carrying on the work amongst the poorer classes.

Her hand is sought in marriage by two men, who although their stations in life are wide apart, are loyal friends. On Paul Pavlov, a poor student, and the other, Serge Palma, a wealthy scion of Russian aristocracy. Hope accepts the latter in order that her work will not be hampered by lack of money.

Her mother, before her marriage, was a celebrated pianist, and her sister, Mlle. Inez Jolivet, is one of the foremost women violinists of the European continent. She made her professional debut in England as Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing," and before first coming to this country, had already played in the leading London theatres with such artists as Cyril Maude, Weedon Grossmith and Sir George Alexander. The annual alumni banquet was held in the high school gymnasium last evening and attended by a large number of graduates. The gymnasium was tidily decorated in red and white, the high school colors. A very interesting program was rendered, consisting of readings, solos and musical numbers. CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN "HEARTS IN EXILE" ON TUESDAY AT THE APOLLO.

attracted by her beauty and virtue, determines to possess her, and to this end has had her sister, Clara Kimball, to five years in East Russia, on false charges.

Hope however, is proof against all his advances and makes a long journey to Siberia to join her husband in exile. After many months of traveling during which she suffers endless privations, she arrives, not to find her husband, but her lover, who in a spirit of wonderful self-sacrifice, actuated by his high souled love for Hope and deep friendship for Serge, has exchanged sentences.

The end of the story is replete with thrills and heart throbs and in the role of Hope Ivanova, Clara Kimball Young has a part in which her strong powers of characterization are demonstrated and to which she gives a remarkable and powerful interpretation.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

The four-reel photo-drama entitled "The Exposure of the White Slave Traffic" will be shown at the Myers Theatre Sunday, June 6, matinee and evening performances.

This picture received the unequalled endorsement of the press, clergy and public of New York City, where it had a run of one hundred and fifty consecutive performances at the Bijou Theatre, Broadway and 30th streets, with prices of admission from twenty-five cents to one dollar.

Mr. T. J. Monagan, who has lectured upon this picture and subject in most of the larger cities throughout the State, comes highly endorsed by the press and public in every city where this picture has been shown. He most eloquently denounces the methods and arts of these inhuman traffickers who lay traps, snares and pitfalls in life's path for women and children, and ignorant young men, and when we take into consideration that more than forty convictions of these traffickers have been made by U. S. District Attorney Coffey in this State alone within the past two years, and more than 40 of these cultures were sentenced to different Federal Prisons throughout the country it shows conclusively the menace to society that these contemptible criminals are.

This is a photo-drama full of human interest and emotions showing the trials and tribulations of a young innocent woman who eventually succeeds in escaping from the meshes of these human leopards, showing the truth and honor triumphs, with the guilty receiving their just punishment.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

George Kleine's "Who's Who in Society" which visits the Myers Theatre on June 8 is the reservoir of many laughs and not a few thrills. Essentially a comedy, the story contains many touches of the dramatic which grip the interest and hold the attention from the beginning of the first reel to the tail of the last.

It has been executed in a typically Kleine style with a cast that would do credit to a comic opera. Dan Moyley, who starred so successfully as "Officer" in the original play and the Kleine film version, is the chief fun-maker. He is ably supported by such well known comedians as Will H. Powers and Kate Sergeantson. Powers will be remembered as the leading comedian of Ziegfeld's follies of '07, '08 and '09 and as Anna Held's comedian for several seasons. Kate Sergeantson has been well known up and down Broadway for many years, having played leads with some of the greatest of English and American artists. Della Connor and Edward Lester are also names familiar to American playgoers.

To put such an expensive cast into a four-reel comedy is thoroughly characteristic of the Kleine policy and in line with the precedents set by those elaborate farces, "Officer" and "Stop Thief," and "The Commuters."

AT MYERS THEATRE.

Manager Myers announces that he has arranged for permanent picture programs to be shown on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights throughout the year. Feature pictures from such well known producers as George Kleine, Pathe Brothers and the Metro company will be shown. The big stars of the day, such as Blanche Sweet, Weber & Fields, Adelaide Thurston, Thomas Jefferson, Orrin Johnson, Ethel Barrymore, Mable Taliaferro and others, are well known and liked. These stars will appear in popular comedies and dramas and film versions of famous stories. Popular prices will prevail. It's Rest's turn to win now. Besides, at each show.

ART PRIZES SAVED FROM RUINS OF WAR CITIES IN EXHIBITION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, June 5.—Sympathetic interest is helping to make a great success of the art exposition just opened by President Poincare in the Petit Palais. Crowds of people, little acquainted with art, are drawn there because they know that the tapestries from the Rheims cathedral were removed under fire and that Flemish objects of art from churches and town-halls of the regions of Ypres and the Yser were spatched from under the muzzles of guns.

"Poor Soissons," one hears from those around the marvelous tapestry, representing the siege of that town in the fifth century. "Just think of it. Fifteen hundred years ago, they were hammering at her, and they are at her still."

There is always a crowd around a leather panel from the mayor's palace at Fumes—a name forever more associated with the popular idol of the war, King Albert. This remarkable specimen of Flemish bears the scars of war—pierced and lacerated as it is by shells.

A figure of Christ carved in ivory, saved by an old priest from a church at Merghylneck just before its demolition, attracts great attention. There are many specimens of remarkable wood carvings in altars and reading desks and seventy show-cases full of Flemish laces and embroideries, all saved from devastated regions.

The proceeds of the exhibition go to the Franco-Belgian relief fund.

KEEP CARP SEINERS OUT OF KOSHKONONG IS SPORTSMEN'S PLEA

Delegations at Madison Yesterday to Oppose Fish Men in Attempt to Have Lake Opened.

Janesville sportsmen interested in the protection and propagation of game fish and wild fowl at Lake Koshkonong, appeared yesterday before the joint state affairs committee of the legislature at Madison in protest against the advances of carp fishermen who seek to have the lake declared open to the taking of carp with nets.

Fred Burpee, Charles Lange and Herbert J. Cunningham, representing the Carleton Shooting club, an organization composed of a number of Janesville men with a camp on the lake, F. E. Green, representing the Rock County Rod and Gun club, and Edward Bingham and Harry McKinnery, the sportsmen's property owners on the lake, and E. W. Lawyer of this city composed the delegation. Bingham and McKinnery had petitions signed by ninety per cent of the lake shore property owners.

Carp fishermen from Jefferson appeared before the committee to argue in favor of the present law being abandoned and permitting them to use nets.

The local men advanced their arguments and were supported in their contentions by State Game Warden Shultz. Shultz opposed seining in the lake and the sportsmen were in it from the first. The fact that the water is always shallow and the body has a thick muddy bottom throughout, the game warden held that the carp fish should never be permitted to take bait from this water.

For the past three years Lake Koshkonong has been closed territory for the state carp fishermen. During this time Janesville sportsmen and others of the vicinity have experienced the best fishing in the ten or more years previous. During the open hunting season of the fall the presence of a large number of water-fowl made Koshkonong a mecca for hundreds of sportsmen. The wild rice had not been trampled down by the carp seiners for three years and in the tall rushes and the rice, oaks of wild fowl took haven. When the fishermen destroyed the wild rice and other vegetation along the shores the game birds for a long time abandoned their visits here on their northerly and southerly flights. The propagation of game fish has been readily noticeable lately. To preserve these two features is the endeavor of hundreds of sportsmen in this locality.

EXPECT TO RECLAIM LAND FROM MARSHES

Propose Huge Draining System to Make Valuable Thirty-Five Hundred Acres in Northern Wisconsin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Port Washington, Wis., June 5.—Thirty-five hundred acres of rich farm land in Sheboygan and Ozaukee counties, which are now useless marshes, may be reclaimed as a result of a soil analysis made by the agricultural college of the state university. The analysis shows that if properly drained, the land is well adapted to general farming and dairying.

The so-called Belgium marsh consists of about 1,500 acres in the town of Belgium, this county, and is drained naturally into Sucker brook. The Belgium-Holland marsh, which consists of about 1,000 acres and, extends north of Belgium station to Holland, Sheboygan county, has natural draining into Onion river. Farmers who owned land bordering these swamps conceived the idea several years ago of having scientifically drained and thus add to the productive area of that section. The move was opposed by others, and the matter was fought out in the courts. Those who favored the project finally won.

Since the legal status of the matter was determined the drainage commission appointed by the court has made a survey of the benefits and damages, and asked for bids to construct drainage canals. The soil survey was the final move necessary before starting the work.

A MISTAKE MADE BY MANY

Don't wait for rheumatism to indicate diseased kidneys. When you suffer pains and aches by day and sleep disturbing bladder weakness by night, feel tired, nervous and run down, the kidneys and bladder should be restored to healthy, strong and regular action. It is a mistake to postpone treatment. Foley kidney pills put the kidneys in sound, healthy condition and keep them active and strong. Begin taking today. Good results follow the first dose. W. T. Roller
This is the largest 4-cylinder Overland that will be produced this year.

The Newest Overland $325 Less Than Last Year

The 1916 Overland is essentially the same as the 1915 Overland—the famous Model 80 that sold for $1075.

But the price is $325 less.

The stream-line body is the same as the $1075 model of last season.

It has the same magnificent finish; that deep, rich tone of dark Brewster green with fine hairline striping of clear ivory-white.

It has the same powerful, economical thirty-five horsepower, four-cylinder motor, but weighs less.

It has the same high tension magneto ignition.

It has the same underslung rear springs. It has the convenient arrangement of electric control buttons on the steering column.

It has the same easy-working clutch which any woman can operate; the same "easy to handle" shifting levers; the same "easy to steer with" wheel; the same positive brakes.

It has 33" x 4" tires which is unusual on a car at this price.

In detail, finish, mechanical fitness, comforts and conveniences, this newest Overland gives you all there was in the $1075 Overland and even more power.

And it costs you but $750—$325 less than last season's large 35 horsepower Overland.

CITY LEAGUE OPENS ITS SEASON TODAY

Lewis Knitters Met Railroad Team at One-Third With Parker Pen and Y. M. C. A. Clash Next.

Today marked the official opening of the Janesville Commercial baseball league for another season after a lapse of two summers. At one-third o'clock at the fair ground diamond, the Lewis Knitters company team opened the season by defeating the Railroad team, while the Parker Pen champions crossed bats with the crack Y. M. C. A. team in the second conflict.

Hard hitting was expected in the first game with "Andy" Connell on the mound for the Knitters and "Shorty" Lee for the Link and Pin. Connell has pitched some masterful games in past years and is capable of holding the string road stars to a few blunders, while Lee is the Lake Shore league sensation, with a big curve and much steam. As the railroad men are the better batters, it is thought Connell will have the biggest job to command to hold them down.

Miller, all-state pitcher, and the star that led the Milton high school team to the state title several years ago, will oppose the Parker Pen batters. This contest will, from all appearances, be the best of the two games, and should be a big-league battle, with each side composed of old and new stars.

McGue will catch Jungblut, while French will receive Miller's puzsers. Pinnerman is slated to stop Connell with John Brown, former Y. M. C. A. catcher, picked to pull in Lee's wide ones. Roy Knight umpired both games. A good crowd of team followers attended the games and the season was ushered in with much enthusiasm.

The only definite lineup among the four teams was that of the Y. M. C. A. It was as follows: French, c; Miller, p; James Stewart, ss; Hemming, 1b; "Babe" Sullivan, 2b; Joseph Ryan, 3b; Joseph H. Stokely, cf; Joseph Ryan, rf; Stewart, lf; Ryan, rf; Walter, Donald Stewart, f; Lee and George Brown, utility men.

150 REPLIES FROM AN ADVERTISEMENT.

Janesville, Wis., April 22, 1915.

Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Gentlemen: Do "Want Ads" bring results? I say emphatically "Yes," for I know, and anyone doubting the ability of the little "ads" to accomplish the desired end, needed but to be at our home on the nights of March 31st, April 1st and 2nd, and the afternoon of the 3rd, to be thoroughly convinced of their efficiency. On the night of March 31st, the following "ad" appeared in the "Too late to Classify," and on the evenings of April 1st and 2nd, it appeared under "Household Goods For Sale."

FOR SALE—Bedroom suite $14; extension table, $2; upholstered rocker, $1; odd dresser, $4; rocker, 35c; stove, $2; stand, 10c; tub, wringer, board, etc., $1; one bed, $1; 6-piece chamber set, $2; plate rack, 50c. Call old phone 1888, or 606 Lincoln St., evenings or Saturday afternoon 10-3-51-21.

During these three nights and Saturday afternoon, counting phone calls and people who came to the house to view the furniture, we must have had over one of a Hundred and Fifty inquiries about these things, and the best of it all was, that we sold everything and could have sold some things several times. We have used the "Want Ads" in various ways at different times, with the same pleasing results.

Most Sincerely Yours,

606 Lincoln St.

Resort Owners Should Be Alive To Situation

Richard M. Gray, Manager of Chicago Beach Hotel, Says Impossibility of European Travel Offers Advertising Opportunity for American Resort Owners.

Doubles Residential Hotel Business In Ten Years.

By Andrew L. Deming.
"While we are on the subject of silver lined clouds—even the terrible clouds that are darkening Europe show a fringe of silver to some of us over here in America."
"They offer the American pleasure resort owner his big opportunity. Europe is closed to the American pleasure seeker—he must find his amusement at home this year. And he is going to learn of places and attractions he has never dreamed of finding in his own country."
"It is a question for the individual resort owner to decide for himself how many of these enforced stay-at-homes shall learn of him—how many of them shall spend with him the summer and money they have heretofore disposed of in foreign resorts."
As we, Richard M. Gray and I, talked, there came through the wide-open windows the illuminating comments of an unseen but warmly contented tennis game. Farther out on the beach, a romper-clad young man of few years, but of unmistakable leanings toward the sand and sea, was expressing himself strongly on the subject of not being permitted to wade out after the properly soggy and water soaked ingredients. For everyone but an unfeeling nurse, who must have been born a grown-up, knows that for serious party purposes dry sand is worse than nothing.

The lazy droning of voices from the veranda, the pawing of an impatient horse, whose mistress was delaying his center for the sake of her "finishing touches"—the alluring out door sounds made us flinch in our chair, and wonder how Mr. Gray could spend enough time indoors to carry on his work as manager of this Chicago Beach Hotel.

Predicts Unusual Advertising Results But he was continuing:
"We, for one, have just had an unusually good winter's business, and we ought all of us to have our record summer. If we go about it right."

"What is the right way to go about it?" we asked.

"The one way the business man has at any time of reaching everybody with the story of his superior offer: by advertising."

"Advertising has always been the big feature of hotel and resort success but this year it is going to set a new record for effectiveness. For in addition to the impossibility of European travel, even the summer traveler in America is staying rather closer to home than usual, for reasons of economy."

"Our house was full all winter, of people who ordinarily spend the winter months in Florida or California. And by the way, the local resorts are due for a summer season, with proper advertising."

Uses Newspapers Daily In Season.
"Do you mean proper with regard to quantity?" we asked.

"Both," he returned. "As to quantity, we use the newspapers every day in the spring and fall months. While we are a residential rather than a seasonal hotel in the summer, we advertise our summer resort features, and then we use certain southern newspapers as well as our local ones."

"In the fall, we advertise for residential guests; for our tenants—because the hotel location attracts people who, for one reason or another, don't desire the responsibilities of house-keeping, yet want to live outside the loop."

Always Uses Three Column Hundred Lines Space.
"Furthermore," he believes in prominent space. Originally we used an occasional two column, fifty line space during a campaign of larger ads. But we soon abandoned the practice, and never used more than three column, hundred line display now."

"Then, we change our copy continually, and never use the same stuff a second year."

"This season we are working out a new idea. Outlines Plan for Effective Campaign for each ad. For instance, today's was on 'Children.' Our subject heads the ad in large type, and practically the entire copy is devoted to the special provisions made for the care and amusement of children, at the same time assuring quiet for the grown ups."

"Another time, our subject is 'Cleanliness,' and it is 'The Minutes From the Loop,' and so forth. We started out with the idea that we could cover one subject at a time more attractively and more thoroughly than we could present all our arguments every time, and that some one will read each of these ads with special interest, because it will fit special requirements. The results are proving every day that we are right."

Invests $15,000 Yearly In Advertising.
Of course, when it comes to the amount of one's advertising investment, there is a difference between the residential and the transient hotel. We use daily space for several months in the spring and fall, and our yearly investment for months, more or less, varies with the season. Our yearly investment is more than $15,000. If we were advertising for transient trade, in a down town location, we would be using three or four times that much, as we know certain loop hotels are using, and running our daily ads the year round."

Transforms Failure Into Success.
"But we are a growing institution, and so, therefore, is our advertising investment."

"You see, this hotel was established in 1893, but did not come under its present management until some time later. It was not an entire success, but a failure during the first few years. In fact, it was not until ten years ago, when we organized a proper advertising plan, that we began to realize results commensurate with what we had to offer."

"But in the ten years that we have been prominent newspaper advertisers, our yearly receipts have been more than doubled. While the bill boards and other forms of advertising have their uses for the hotel man, if he is spending $100,000 a year for advertising, he would place 80 per cent of it in the newspapers."

"As it is, our yearly $15,000 keeps all our 450 rooms full. When we have finished our annex, we will look to the newspapers to keep it full, too."

"In the one respect, the hotel and restaurant business are alike: a certain number of rooms constantly occupied allows you to break even on the expenses. But your profits begin when you are keeping more than that number of rooms occupied—and the hotel man is not getting the full return on his money until he's keeping all his rooms occupied all the time."

"That's what the newspapers are doing for us—what they will do for any hotel man who gives them the chance—especially will they do it for the pleasure resort owner, this year of stay-at-home pleasure seeking."

has become a part of the civic and moral life of this community. As a moral force, it has been an important factor for many years. During the character-forming period of a young man's life, the need for a moral force such as is behind the Y. M. C. A. is apparent. The officers and directors of this Association want to make the Y. M. C. A. a real home for the active and associate members of this city—a place having a real home-like atmosphere where the boys and men who are members can drop in and enjoy the athletic sports, play billiards and basketball or use the bowling alley and gymnasium and then take a plunge in the swimming pool, or take a shower bath, read the newspapers and magazines and be a part of the social life that is desirable in every community.

The directors of the Association realize that such an institution conducted on these lines can never be self supporting. Therefore we are calling on all public spirited, broad minded men of the city of Janesville to help along the work by their contributions.

The Association wants not only active members, but sustaining members. With a sufficient number of the latter, the increased usefulness of the Y. M. C. A. will be multiplied several times. It is a significant fact that very few of our business men are supporting this institution.

The sustaining membership for a period of one year may be had for $15.00 and up. We are making it a rule that any sustaining member paying $15.00 to $20.00 will be given lockers and towels free. Those paying $25.00 and up may also have privileges of the billiard room and bowling alleys but not exceeding $15.00 worth of these tickets.

If you believe in this good work, and we know that you do, will you help us?

If you believe in bettering the moral conditions of the city in which you live, will you aid by your subscription?

Some member of the Board of Directors will call on you soon and if by chance you are missed, call any one of them and they will be pleased to come to you. Later on a vigorous campaign will be inaugurated to enlist the young men and boys in this work.

BRILLIANT FIELDING GIVES THE WHITE SOX VICTORY OVER BOSTON

Boston, June 5.—With Death Valley Jim Scott allowing but four hits and the Sox holding brilliantly, the Chicago Americans rumbled to a 2 to 0 victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday, in the first of a four game series. Nine sensational plays by the Sox defense helped Scott to put away the Sox seven hits, which were meant and almost certain safe blows were gobbled up by the Collins duo. Weaver and Brief who delighted in stopping the chesty Red Sox, allowed the Sox seven hits, which were widely enough scattered to prevent scoring had not Wagner, Boston short, booted one in the opening act with two down in the first when Fournier slashed a bouncer down to Wagner and Collins scored from second while Wagner held the ball until too late. John Collins doubled, scoring the Frenchman after a steal.

DELINQUENT YOUTHS WARNED BY POLICE

Officers Making Trips to School's to Break Up Gangs of Petty Violators.

Within the past week, there have been about a dozen boys ranging between the ages of twelve and eighteen brought before Chief Champion at the police station for a lecture and warning on delinquent habits. Not only did the police chief warn the boys to appear but in several instances they were taken to the station, where they were being received. It is said that the boys are being received in ward or many instances have led to the stealing of goods, setting places afire, throwing stones at autos and other and other malicious acts. In one trip to the St. Mary's School the police took a high school student who was the leader of the gang and this young man was called into conference and closely watched in the future.

Two youngsters were brought from school yesterday to the police station in connection with the theft of sewing machine worth of tools belonging to the Snyder plumbing company. The tools were taken from an unoccupied house on Fifth avenue and the first two lads refused to reveal information. Under stress of the tools and within half an hour the young man was said to be implicated in this affair, and he will be taken into custody this afternoon for investigation. A week ago three first ward youths were called before the police for taking iron material of machines and there has been any number of cases of these petty larceny cases among boys below sixteen years of age during the past two months.

None of the offenders have been taken to court, it being the policy of the police department not to put a black eye against the boys—but unless there is an improvement in the methods will be pursued say the police. The practice of throwing mud and stones at pedestrians in the fifth ward caused several complaints and the police will make an investigation of these facts Saturday.

CHILDREN BAPTIZED UNDER BATTLE FIRE

Two Russian Babies Near Trenches Under the Rain of Shrapnel Shell.—Enemy's Officers Were Godfathers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Vienna, June 5.—An article published in the Vienna Extrablatt described an extraordinary baptism carried out near the trenches. Two Russian babies were baptized with the kind help of Austrian officers, although shrapnel were flying about them.

"We were quartered in a peasant house in Russia whose owner at the beginning of the war had fled," says the report. "His wife, however, had remained and did everything possible to make our stay comfortable. One evening we returned very tired from the trenches, but yet with the pleasant expectation of finding a cup of warm tea in our quarters. We, however, were much surprised that the woman of the house did not appear all evening. The explanation came the same night when several of our doctors were hastily summoned. The peasant woman gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl."

"Three days later while eating our noonday meal the Russian woman entered the dining room and requested that our captain, Mitzevic and Laetch, serve as godfathers of her children. The officers agreed to do so."

"Arrangements were at once made for the baptismal services that day, as our officers and soldiers had to go back to the trenches the same night. An orderly was sent to a neighboring town to buy infants' clothes. A priest was also summoned to baptize the children in the village church. Everything was ready for the baptismal ceremonies when unfortunately the Russians began to bombard our position. This did not disturb us. Although shrapnel were flying about, the infants were carried to the church, where numerous officers and soldiers had assembled. And under the rays of pocket lanterns the two little infants were baptized.
